Dentist Be Damned! Review

There's only one thing worse than a toothache. And that's to have a toothache--AND be afraid of the dentist.

So if you're reading this letter because you've got a tooth that's killing you, or you've got a deathly fear of dentists and don't want to see one, I've got a sure fire method that'll do the trick.

It'll get you out of pain in no time. I promise.

no trip to the dentist required.

That's a relief to hear, isn't it?

But before I share with you what it is, first let me tell you what not to do. This is critical. It could save your life.

- First, don't take any of the over-the-counter (OTC) remedies. Those things don't work by design. They're in cahoots with the dental industry.
- Don't ever drink to kill the pain. That only works in the movies and will only make the toothache worse. Don't even try squishing the alcohol around in your mouth.
- One more thing, don't try to pull the tooth yourself. It's dangerous and could cause more harm than good.

Ask me how I know.

Yes, I'm well aware of the drastic measures people will go through to avoid going to the dentist.

Today, the good news is, if you have a toothache we know exactly what to do.
