Needs Identification: Consider the nature of your commercial space. The needs of a corporate office differs drastically from those of a salon or restaurant. Focus on the ergonomics and durability for office spaces, whereas theme and style might take precedence in cafes and restaurants

Sample Before Your Buy: Request your supplier for samples (if possible). This helps you assess the build, comfort, and material quality firsthand before making a large investment

Supplier Reputation: Research on your suppliers thoroughly. Opt for suppliers with positive reviews and a solid track record in the industry. Reliable client service and timely delivery are as crucial as the product quality itself.
