Symptoms of menopause

The symptoms of menopause experienced by most women include:

- Hot Flashes: Hot flashes are experienced like the bolt of lightning anytime and anywhere due to menopause. These unpleasant hot flashes can frighten you even while playing with your kids or working in your office. They are dangerous as they are accompanied by dizziness.
- Fatigue: Menopause can lower your energy level to a considerable level even if you were known for your extraordinary energy level in your circles. All these things change during the period of peri-menopause and deteriorate during the period of menopause. It causes fatigue.
- Weight Gain: During the period of peri-menopause, women usually start gaining weight. It can be due to a change in their metabolism. They start gaining weight on their butt, belly, and thighs even if they exercise like a fitness freak and eat as low as a rabbit.

Side effects of menopause

Some of the common side effects of menopause include:

- Health Problems: Menopause can cause certain health problems by an increase in blood pressure as well as an increase in the risk of heart problems even if you were exceptionally healthy before it.
- Irregular Periods: During the period of peri-menopause periods become extremely painful heavy and unpredictably irregular.

- Sexual Problems: The symptoms of peri-menopause and menopause can affect intimate relationships as they can greatly affect your joy and libido. You do not have enough energy to enjoy sexual life in your bedroom, as you can never be in the mood to have it.
